FULLBLOODS SAY NO.

They Want Allotment Delayed and Want Town Lots Sold at Auction—Not Ready for a Change Yet.

Nakedhead, a fullblood, of Flint district, delivered a lengthy address in Cherokee. He said, in part: "You cannot expect the Cherokee to make greater strides in civilization than anyone else. We are not yet ready to make the proposed changes, but would ask for time. We regard the treaties as sacred, and intend to treat them as such ourselves, and believe the gentlemen who compose the commission to the five tribes in their dealings. We ask that the intruders be removed so that the land they occupy can be taken up by the young men of the nation." Nakedhead laid great stress on the statement that the fullbloods were not well enough educated to undergo a change in their government.

D. W. C. Duncan, before the Dawes and Cherokee commissions, says: "I am not in favor of selling these town lots at all. It is my opinion that they should be taken by allotment in precisely the same manner as the man who lives in the country takes his farm. But if the commission should finally conclude to sell them, then I am opposed to selling them by appraisal. My plan would be to sell them at auction, to the highest bidder, and thus realize as much as possible out of the land."

Thomas Smith, fullblood Cherokee, said: "There is no distinction between citizens of this nation. They all stand alike so far as right is concerned. We are satisfied with our situation and want no change. This you can see for yourselves. If it were known what your mission was, I could speak more plainly. Still, I can say this: We are a unit in wanting things to remain as they are, and we don't believe you will force what we don't want upon us. Especially is this the case with the fullbloods, whose interests, with Mr. Sanders, I represent and want respected. I suppose you are here to find out what the facts are. I answer for the people truly when I say they don't want any change in their government and are not ready for it and do not look to be forced to make it."

"Durant, I. T., May 23.—R. M. Love, U. S. Marshal, Dallas, Tex.: Dear sir—I regret to inform you that your man, Blackwell, slipped his shackles and escaped from his guard about four miles north of Red river this morning by jumping from the ear window while en route to Dallas."

"H. K. WALL,

"Deputy U. S. Marshal.

AFFAIRS IN GREECE.

WON'T PAY IT.

A Good Thing.

Berwyn, I. T., May 23.—The people of this city recently petitioned Congressman Bailey asking that he introduce a bill empowering notaries public with the same privileges and authorities of a coroner.

The petition sets forth certain irregularities of a coroner in regard to the trouble had when a man is killed or found dead.

They pray that a notary public be allowed to sit on the body, summons a jury and hold an inquest.

In his reply Mr. Bailey said it was a good thing, and that, if upon investigation he found it to be substantial and constitutional, he would guarantee to further the measure.

This seems to be a very necessary demand, as there is a notary public in almost every neighborhood. The honor of this idea falls to B. A. Arnold, Dr. A. N. Wright and George R. Paschal and the petition was signed by the most influential men of the country.

Not Henglish, You Know.

"In the United States I find so much to praise and admire and so many evidences of progress, that it seems ungracious to single out anything for adverse criticism," said Mr. Henry Stuart of London, at the Shoreham. "But if you will put up with a frank comment, I want to enter a protest against the shockingly bad examples of your country residences so far as I could judge of them on a railway train coming from New York to Washington. They appear to be more like the huts or hovels of a primitive race than the abodes of a highly enlightened and prosperous people. I would think that Americans would be ashamed to inhabit such apologies for houses as I saw."

"This has been the only unpleasant circumstance connected with my visit over here, and it is not to be weighed in the balance against so many other things in which your people are confessedly ahead of the whole world."—Post.
